About Copyright and Images

You might want to save an image for use in school work. However, it is important to know that you cannot just take any image you want. Some pictures need to be purchased before use. Those will often have a watermark or a company name printed on them covering part of the picture. Other pictures may have a note describing how they can be used while others are free with no limitations on use. These are often called royalty-free.

Copyrighted pictures posted online may have a © symbol on the image with the date or name of the owner. This is a way of identifying who owns the picture.

5. Study the picture.
- | | | |
|---|------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| a. Does the picture have a watermark? | <input type="checkbox"/> Yes | <input type="checkbox"/> No |
| b. Do you have to purchase the picture? | <input type="checkbox"/> Yes | <input type="checkbox"/> No |
| c. Does it have a copyright © symbol? | <input type="checkbox"/> Yes | <input type="checkbox"/> No |
| d. Does it have the name of the creator? | <input type="checkbox"/> Yes | <input type="checkbox"/> No |
| e. Does it have a date? | <input type="checkbox"/> Yes | <input type="checkbox"/> No |
| f. Is there a caption that states how it can be used? | <input type="checkbox"/> Yes | <input type="checkbox"/> No |

6. If the picture has a watermark, it must be purchased or if the creator has stated it cannot be used by the public, then you must find a new picture.
Can you use the picture in your work?
- Yes No

7. You can sort images by license or rights.
This will allow you to show only pictures that have been labeled for reuse.

- ▶ Sort the images by license to show images you can use.

Is the picture from question 5 still in the search results?

Yes No

COPYRIGHT, FAIR USE, AND SCHOOL WORK

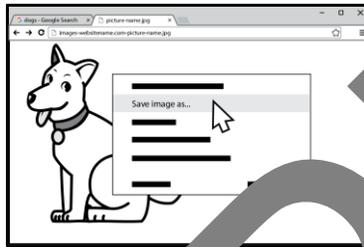

In most cases, you can use a picture in your school work. This is because it is not for commercial purposes. However, you should NEVER remove the copyright symbol and you should ALWAYS follow the rules of use outlined by the creator.

Save a Picture from the Internet

Pictures on the Internet can be used to complete school assignments. For example, you might want to place a diagram into a report, a photo onto a title page, or a clip art image onto a story page to illustrate the action.
